THE agonizing pain, the inflammation, swelling, burning irritation and loss of blood caused by piles soon reduce any man or woman to a state of terrible weakness. The evidence of thousands of sufferers proves Zam-Buk to be a positive relief for piles, both inward and outward.

Zam-Buk is most soothing and cooling. It checks the bleeding, ends itching and burning, allays swelling and inflammation, and finally causes the piles to gradually disappear.

The marvellous soothing and curative powers of Zam-Buk are derived from purest natural extracts and oils of the utmost purity and refinement. The ointments and dressings containing animal fats and mineral drugs cannot do the same good as Zam-Buk.

7 Years BLEEDING PILES CURED!

"For seven years" writes W. C. Gibson, 25, Gold Street, London, "I suffered from bleeding piles, accompanied by acute pain and inflammation. Although I tried many remedies, I could gain no lasting relief. Indeed, I got worse. A friend strongly recommended me to try Zam-Buk and from the very first application it proved beneficial. The bleeding ceased, and the pain and inflammation were completely allayed by this marvellous balm."

PROPAGANDA.

HOW TO FIGHT IT IN SHANGHAI.

To counteract the mendacious propaganda which has been promoted in this district during the past year or so, vilifying the foreigner for all the sins of omission and commission, and attributing to him the vilest of traits, it has been made imperative that some qualified men should enter the field and offer combat to the unscrupulous. We ("Shanghai Mercury") have to hand a brochure which has been compiled by the Rev. J. Darroch, entitled "China, the Foreign Powers and the Unequal Treaties." There are no less than 14 subjects treated by the author, and to his credit be it said he has handled his topics with admirable restraint, and, needless to say, with profound knowledge and commanding authority. We can most heartily recommend the booklet to the most earnest consideration of the community.

To those of us who tremble to think what the city's administration might become if it fell under the complete control of the Chinese, it is gratifying to find a bold truth outlined on Page 13: "The prosperity and growth of the International Settlement of Shanghai is entirely due to its immunity from Chinese control." It is a fact which must be admitted, particularly in the light of experiments tried by amateur administrators in essentially Chinese areas. A review of the many grievances cited by the Chinese includes the question of admission into the Public Garden and Parks. Sympathy with a suddenly developed grievance in a Foreign Settlement may be a virtue, but we suspect that the Public Garden was gifted to the community as a pleasure area for foreigners only. After all, this was—and is—a Foreign Settlement. Dr. Darroch quotes the decision of the annual meeting of ratepayers where the "principle" was accepted hereby some arrangement will be made for the admission of Chinese to the public parks. We have given them, with the other appurtenances of Western civilization, football, baseball, tennis and golf and they should have somewhere to play games and get needful recreation. Tennis and golf have been permitted at Hongkew, and possibly concessions might be made here to devotees of football and baseball, but, as a general rule we do not see public parks converted into recreation grounds. At Jessfield such an intrusion would be an outrage. Dr. Darroch points with pride to some of the many benefits conferred on China by the "Unequal Treaties," and in alluding to the Maritime Customs Service does not hesitate to say that "it is the only honest and efficient departmental administration she has or we might add, she has ever had." An informative review of the situation as it appears to the intelligent foreigner, concludes in these words:—

There are few foreigners who have resided for any length of time in this country who have not a deep respect for the Chinese. There are none who do not deplore the misgovernment from which this patient people has for so long suffered. There is nothing such residents more ardently desire than to see China a strong, self-respecting and respected, power amongst the nations of the earth; for our welfare is bound up with the welfare of the land we live in. But China is the master of her own fate. Her way to greatness does not lie through violence and bloodshed; still less through anti-foreignism and communism. If China will be true to her own traditions and steadily work towards an efficient and honest administration with an upright judiciary she will find that no foreign Power will obstruct her efforts to obtain complete independence and untrammelled sovereignty.

CHINESE JEWS.

SMALL COMMUNITY AT KAI-FENG-FU.

Commenting on the fact that an expedition is going to the wilds of Abyssinia to investigate the Falashas or Black Jews, "A Traveler" writes in the "Daily Mail": "Queer things have happened to more than one straggling colony of The Chosen People when it got cut off from its base."

Do you know, for instance, about the 300 Chinese Jews, huddled together at the city of Kai-feng-fu, in Honan Province, sadly contemplating the ruins of their synagogue, and carrying on, by word of mouth, the teachings of their last rabbi, who died 80 years ago? They are very poor and dejected. None of their wealthy fellow communities elsewhere in the world lends them a hand, nor does any museum, or archaeological institution take steps to preserve what remains, and records are still to be found there. The British Museum, at all events, knows about them, for it has a number of Hebrew manuscripts from Kai-feng-fu, and there are some, I believe, in the Bodleian Library.

How the Black Jews happened to get cut off in a remote part of Abyssinia has still to be ascertained. The origin of the Chinese Jews is known; they themselves have commemorated it. They were camp followers of a Persian king who was driven out of his country and energetically pursued by the armies of the Caliph Othman, 1,300 years ago. They lost their way and failed to keep in touch with what was left of the Persian army when it ventured to go home. There is to-day a stone in the ruined synagogue that records the construction of the first place of worship, in 1163, and its rebuilding about 355 years ago.

It would be a matter for keen regret if this extraordinarily interesting, and diminishing, group of marooned representatives of an ancient civilisation were allowed, through sheer ignorance and apathy, to disappear without any steps being taken to make a thorough investigation of their relics and recollections.

MARRIED MAN AND GIRL.

A story of a man's love for a woman not his wife was told at an inquest at Acton on Wilfred Bernard Finney, french-polisher, who, suffering from corrosive poisoning, and was found in Myrtle Road, Acton, at midnight, died next day in Acton Hospital. The widow, who lives at Horsham, said the last time she saw her husband he told her he was going abroad and asked her for money.

A young woman, whose name was not disclosed, said she had been walking out with Finney for eighteen months. She found that he was married, and told him that she must break with him. He then threatened to kill both himself and her, saying that no other man should have her. Afterwards she received two letters from him, signed "Billie." In them he wrote:

"I have lost the love of the only woman I care about, and life without you, dearest, is impossible. I cannot sleep or do anything for thinking of you. I just cannot forget. I am going mad. I shall only finish by taking a dose of poison."

The coroner said the young woman had done quite right in breaking with Finney, whose love for her had unhinged his mind. He recorded a verdict of suicide while temporarily insane.

POLICE BANDIT.

HOLDS UP CAR AND STEALS P16,900.

The Manila paper of Saturday last report:

Arcadio Rivera, youthful Manila policeman, charged with emulating Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde during his spare hours by turning bandit, was arrested at 11.30 a.m. yesterday while walking his beat on Calle P. Burgos, by John Nevins, chief of the local secret service.

Rivera, who is barely past 25 years of age, is alleged to have been the leader of a band of eight highwaymen, who on the evening of June 16, robbed Donata de Jesus, of Nueva Ecija, and her son, Ramon Manalac, of P16,900.

The robbery was committed on a Bulacan highway, just outside the town of Bocaue. Rivera, who is on duty at the Meisic police station, as a patrolman in Precinct No. 2, was spending his vacation in the provinces at the time, and was recognised by the victims of the hold-up, it is said.

Following his arrest, Rivera was turned over to the Constabulary, and will be taken to Malolos, Bulacan for trial.

Rivera's arrest was the fourth made in connection with the hold-up. The three others were Ramon Blanco, Dionisio Lapuz and Leon Masinsin, who were apprehended a few days following the crime. The case against them was dismissed in the justice of peace court at Bocaue, at a preliminary hearing for lack of evidence. Vicente Sotto, Manila criminal lawyer, defended the men. The constabulary authorities and secret service officials are continuing the search for the bandits at large, and it was announced last night that they were in possession of substantial clues that may lead to the apprehension of the criminals within a few days.

Details surrounding the robbery are well known. The victims of the holdup were motoring to Manila from Nueva Ecija the night of June 16, with the sum stolen in their possession, with which they intended to close a business transaction. The ownership of the money, they said, was shared by two others.

Information that Donata de Jesus was taking such a large sum to Manila, was believed to have been secured by someone closely associated with her and her son.

The intelligence division of the Constabulary has been at work on the case since news of the crime reached Manila, two days after committed. First Lieutenant Jose Guillo, second assistant, has been in charge.

A BIZARRE BANQUET.

The world has been ransacked to find exotic and out-of-the-way dishes for the annual banquet of the Societe d'Acclimatation which took place on the 29th May. The meal started in a banal manner with bird's nest soup aux oeufs, followed by Russian bolets (an edible fungus, whitish yellow in colour), and became more enterprising in the fish course, as rich sandre, sauce Gribiche, was offered. The sandre is apparently a fish of a rare species found only in the rivers of Eastern Europe.

As the entire matelote of uromastix, with grilled porcupine steaks as an alternative, appeared. The uromastix is a lizard of repulsive appearance, which has been imported from the sands of the Sahara for the occasion. Mouton de Corse (a cross between a deer and a kid) and poulets intrasauces followed. This method of dressing chicken is a most interesting innovation. The sauce, instead of being added afterwards, is injected into the living bird and diffused through the flesh by the blood vessels.

After this dizzy flight of culinary fancy the guests were brought to earth with haricots from Chile and salad Acclimatation, which might consist of anything. The most interesting fruit was stowed papaya, which is only found in tropical America, while the meal was wound up in fitting manner with tea made from an infusion of orchid leaves.

P. & O. LINER.

ELECTRIC PROPULSION MACHINERY.

A new 19,000 tons twin-screw passenger liner is being built at Glasgow for the P. & O.

The outstanding feature of this vessel is that the machinery is to be of the turbo-electric type. The installation is being supplied by the British Thomson-Houston Co., Ltd., and will consist of two B. T. H. turbines of 17,000 S. H. P. coupled to electric generators and motors, all assembled in a common engine room. The main engines will give the vessel an all round speed of about 18 knots on service, and either of the turbines will be sufficient to operate both shafts and drive the vessels at a speed of 16½ knots. The auxiliaries and other deck gear will all be electrically operated and for this separate turbo-generators are provided. The main generators will operate on alternating current and the auxiliaries on direct current for lighting and heating, and the constant current system for all deck machinery. The boilers are to be of the Yarrow water-tube, working at a pressure of about 400 lb. to the square inch, and will be oil-fired on the Clyde system. In passing, it is interesting to note that there will be only two main steam pipes from the boilers to the turbines, and the saving, on this account, of steam losses and also maintenance, survey and general upkeep, is not to be lightly discounted, says "Shipbuilding," nor should we dismiss the advantages of the availability of 100 per cent. astern power and the absence of an astern turbine.

The only electrically propelled ships which approximate to the size of the projected P. & O. liner are the warships of the American Navy and the liner now building in the States for the International Mercantile Marine Company to which Lord Kylsant alluded in his speech at the annual meeting of Harland & Wolff.

It has seemed strange to those to whom the news came as a surprise, that the P. & O. with all the alternatives before it, should have adopted a system of which, as applied to large powers in the merchant services, practically nothing is known. No doubt, if the proposition had been put before one of our technical societies, the theorists, acting within their own expert but limited knowledge, would have dismissed the scheme as scientifically unsound and unjustifiable. But there are few shipping companies more conservative than, or as soundly managed as, the P. & O. and it is inconceivable to any who know the care and deliberation which the management expend on the efficient running of their vessels that the company would embark on any novel project without giving the most careful consideration to all the facts which would be brought to bear on the particular conditions under which this ship will operate, mainly between London and Bombay.

It has been said that the turbo-electric drive is of little real use to a ship of this character, because she sails at a regular speed. Those who so lightly dismiss the subject in this fashion ignore the fact that on this mail route the speeds vary largely in the Eastern trades, and also, as no doubt will happen in due course when the vessel takes up one of those interesting cruises which the P. & O. and other lines are developing to such a high pitch of efficiency, she will prove ideal for the peculiar conditions under which these pleasure voyages are undertaken. From the point of view of the comfort of the passengers, the electric drive is ideal. On this ship, for example, reciprocating units will be entirely eliminated.

The successful operation of a ship is a highly complex business, and there are a good many factors which do not always enter into the calculations of, shall we say, an expert salesman. We may, therefore, rest assured that in breaking away from the traditional quadruple-expansion steam engine which has given them service for so many years and entering into a field of marine propulsion of which our marine engineers know little or nothing from actual experience, the P. & O. have been guided by very sound advice, and we shall watch the experiment with the greatest of interest.

CANTON & HAIPHONG.

The Harbour Master, Canton, states that with reference to Harbour Notification No. 5 of 1927, declaring the Ports of Saigon and Haiphong to be cholera infected, and to Harbour Notification No. 7 of 1927, withdrawing the declaration against Saigon, notice is given that the declaration against Haiphong has been withdrawn and that the medical inspection of vessels from that port has been discontinued.

GERMAN PLANS.

BUILDING SLOWING DOWN.

As the Hamburg and Bremen lines have placed in the past six months a number of orders for new tonnage, the German ship-building yards are fully occupied at the present moment and consequently not dependent on the immediate influx of further business prospects in that respect are not believed very favourable.

So far as can be ascertained, the big shipping companies have practically completed their building plans with the above-mentioned orders, and they are therefore unlikely to increase their commitments for some time to come, all the more as it has been stated that some old vessels have been acquired abroad by one of them.

It is, therefore, not surprising that no contracts of any importance have been transacted in the recent past. On the other hand, unpleasant surprise was caused by the announcement that three motorships were ordered recently in Sweden—one by a Hamburg oil refinery and two by the Hamburg-South America Line. Both orders have gone to the Kolums Ship-building Company, Malmö.

The first-mentioned is for a 9,000-ton motor tanker and the other for two 8,000-ton cargo boats. In each case the prices are stated to be considerably below those quoted by the German yards, a fact which the Hamburg-South America management has emphasised, as the deal was concluded only after protracted negotiations with several of the former. Moreover, it is reported that the Swedish concern is granting longer credit. Its ability to beat the Germans is all the more noteworthy as it has to pay higher wages.

Yard For Sale?

In December last several Bremen and Hamburg shipbuilding companies were amalgamated and taken over by a new company—Deutsche Schiff-und Maschinenbau A. G., Bremen-Hamburg. According to a rumour, the directors are considering the sale of the Hamburg yard, which was owned formerly by the Stettin Vulkan concern.

When the amalgamation scheme was first mentioned its promoters were anxious to include in the combine one or two other Hamburg companies, chiefly the Deutsche Werft, but neither the chief shareholders of the company (Berlin General Electric and Gutehoffnungshütte) nor the only other important Hamburg firm of that industry (Blohm and Voss) were willing to sacrifice their independence.

The rumour is probably based on the assumption that the directors of the combine would prefer to concentrate on the Bremen establishment, and that in the present circumstances the Hamburg property might be more of a burden than an asset of great value, especially as it had not been conspicuously successful in gathering in fresh contracts of any importance in the last few months.

According to the "Hamburger Fremdenblatt," the Bremen directors and the Berlin banks interested in the Deutsche Schiff-und Maschinenbau A. G., have denied all knowledge of pending negotiations, though their denials do not contradict that a sale might be considered were an acceptable offer forthcoming.

The only likely purchase would probably be the Deutsche Werft, but local directors are, apparently, unaware of any proposal of that nature, though they may not know all that is going on behind the scenes.

Another potential solution might be a fusion with one or the other of the smaller local yards, but so far no trace of any steps in that direction has been observed.

"MINE AND THINE."

Another American Senator—
Mr. Hiram Bingham—has been touring through China and has given his impressions at the Shanghai Rotary Club. The average globe-trotter, in peace or war, is not generally to be taken as an authority on conditions in other lands than his own, but often he gives expression to an idea or two not altogether beside the point.
This criticism can be applied in the main even to British M.P.'s and American Congressmen—much depends on who are their guides and counsellors, in the strange lands they visit and on the conditions prevailing at the moment.

In China Senator Bingham
seems to have seen a great deal and to have personally seen such leaders as Yen Hsi-shan, the model Governor of Shansi, and Chang Tso-lin, the war lord of Peking and Mukden. His comments on Shansi are interesting.
There is a well-drilled army purely for the purpose of defence;
there are no bandits; afforestation is proceeding apace; and education is compulsory. The conduct of the Government, says the Senator, well justifies calling it the model province and Yen Hsi-shan the model Governor. This system might well be copied in the other provinces.

Of the Southern soldiery Senator Bingham has not one good word to say. The missions and other foreign property in Kinkiang, Wuhan, Nanking and every other place he visited had been looted. The soldiers had even entered—the churches, sitting and gambling on the altars, showing that they had neither respect nor honour for sincere religion.
Everywhere there seemed a lack of respect for "mine or thine" in regard to property rights. This,
of course, is stating nothing new.
It is not confined to the rank and file of the Chinese soldiery. It permeates all the leaders of the warring factions. All that matters is the filling of their coffers to enable them to carry on the civil war for a few months or a few years longer. Hence the imposition of the Nanking taxes and of illegal exactions that are operating most harshly against the foreigners (and Chinese) in China. Hence the occupation of Concessions and the threat to others. Foreign property has no inherent rights according to the various war lords—or the great majority of them. Under the cloak of an agitation against unequal Treaties and against Imperialism they are filching one by one all the rights that the foreigners possessed under Treaties that ought to have been inviolable.
The ethics respecting "mine and thine" are being shattered daily.
With them might is right—the might of confiscation and exploitation!

The conclusion reached by Senator Bingham is that the best future for China lies in following the provincial model, in establishing regional governments that will ensure law and order, looking forward to education, re-afforestation, and economic development. Comparing the experience of the United States, the Senator asks: "Is it not all the more necessary to establish strong local governments with a sense of law and order, a square deal, and a freedom to worship?"

Unfortunately jealousy and rivalry are rampant throughout the country; each faction is struggling for power; each war lord is seeking domination not alone within a limited provincial sphere but over the whole country. And in pursuing that struggle they are heedless of the rights of "mine or thine"; they are pur-blind to the immense good that would accrue to China under such a system as Senator Bingham advocates; they are heedless of the wrong in filching property and of the many lives that are being lost;
they are indifferent to the grave injury caused to their own nation by the devastation of civil war—all they can think about is feathering their own nest at the expense both of their own nationals and foreigners. Under conditions of such chaos how can it be possible to establish a system of provincial governments with the high ideals indicated by Senator Bingham? The Kwangtung Government might well have been in the same enviable position to-day as the model province of Shansi
but for the lust of conquest.
Under the veiled plea of "Nationalism" they set out to bring the whole of the other provinces under their sway, and all that they have done is to prove up to the hilt that their only watchword is not "Nationalism" but a complete disregard for "mine or thine." So long as that spirit animates their leaders the Nationalists cannot possibly influence the whole of the Chinese populace in their favour; nor can they expect recognition from the foreign Powers whom they are doing their best to exploit whilst they imagine that "the going is good."
The day of reckoning must come!

Shorter Englishmen.

Not apropos to the wearing of shorts, it has been said that there are not nowadays so many Englishmen to be seen with long, lean legs as was the case, say, a century ago. In truth, the male portion of the race is getting shorter, whilst, generally speaking, the young men of America are taller than their fathers. Only recently, it may be remembered, the standard height for the Household Cavalry was reduced by one inch to five feet ten inches because of the difficulty of finding men sufficiently tall for that famous regiment. This tendency towards shortness is becoming increasingly noticeable amongst Englishmen. Tailors at home, we are told, have to give the matter serious attention. There are so many short men that styles and patterns have to be devised that will produce the effect of tallness.
Before the war the average Englishman was a slim person; indeed, the tailor's ideal figure.
Now he is a great deal more "stocky" in build, broader of shoulder and thicker of leg. The increase in the playing of rugby, and games generally, are blamed for the prevailing lack of inches.
This shortness may prove a severe handicap in life's race. It is, of course, reasonable to expect our crack soldiers to possess a goodly number of inches, but now the Postmaster-General has announced that he will not appoint anyone as a postman who is not at least five feet four inches in height. His decision appears arbitrary for, as a rule, what little men lack in inches, they make up for in energy. Wellington and Napoleon were little men but great generals. And so were Caesar, Nelson, Roberts, Evelyn Wood, and French. The writer is a little man. But, apart from that, it would seem reasonable to believe that men like those named above, all winners of wars, could deliver letters. Now then, ye wee, small fellows, what about it?

"I met Mrs. Boxhall for the annual conference of the Ministering Children's League and was introduced to the Earl of Meath.

his daughter Lady Mary Holt and Meath thought Hong Kong had been wonderful in raising so much money for the Otterhaw trying times. They were also amazed at Shanghai's effort. The League could do with a special effort to equip their Sanatorium with linen, blankets, etc., and some furnishings as they have to borrow from the Homes for such necessaries if there is sickness;

but it is thought that the Sanatorium should have its own things in case of infection."

AFTER TWO YEARS.

CHINESE COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

ALLEGED MANSLAUGHTER.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. R. E.
Lindell decided to commit Pun Pui-sang to stand his trial at the next Criminal Sessions on the charge of manslaughter of a street coolie who was alleged to have been run over by the defendant's motor car on the night of June 1, 1925, while the deceased with four others was asleep on the pavement on the harbour side of Queen's Road West, a little to the west of No. 7 Police Station.
All the five coolies were said to have been run over. The deceased and another were the most seriously injured of the lot. The other man was run over the chest and legs and had to remain one month at the Government Civil Hospital.

The case for the prosecution was that the defendant drove the car down Pokfulam Road and turned into Queen's Road West at the speed, estimated by an Indian Traffic Sergeant, of between 16 and 17 miles per hour. The car mounted the pavement as a result, and ran over the coolies.

Sudden Gust.

The defence as raised by Mr.
M. K. Lo, was that there was a sudden gust of wind as the defendant was turning into Queen's Road West, and some sand was blown into the defendant's eyes, temporarily blinding him and causing him to lose control of the car. Mr. Lo contended that there was no evidence of negligence to go before a jury.

The point of the defendant being in charge of the car as an unlicensed driver was raised by the Magistrate, and eventually the case was adjourned on Monday for his Worship to consider his decision. Mr. Lo's contention being that the fact of his client being an unlicensed driver should not add to the gravity of the charge.

At the resumption yesterday afternoon, Mr. Lindell said:—
"I am in agreement with you now, Mr. Lo, that the fact that the defendant had no licence to drive a car, in the absence of any evidence that his being unlicensed meant that he drove in any way badly or dangerously, has no bearing in this case. On the other hand, I feel that he took his corner so wide that it caused fatality and this may be a matter of criminal negligence which should go before a jury. On that account I feel I should convict, even if the defendant goes into the witness box and says that dust blew into his eyes. I still think the jury should find whether that is sufficient explanation of the accident. In view of this decision, do you want to put your client in the box, Mr. Lo?"

Defence Noted.

Mr. Lo: No, Your Worship, so long as it will be clear to the Attorney-General that the question as to whether the evidence is sufficient or not for the defendant to stand his trial is not affected by reason of the fact that the defendant did not go into the box.

Mr. Lo further asked his Worship to make a note of the fact that the defence was that dust blew into the defendant's eyes. His Worship promised to do so.
The defendant, having been duly cautioned, he reserved his defence and was committed to the Sessions.

Mr. Cheatum—Splendidly, splendidly! I just tell you, my

was:—

One of the answers by a bright

"Wait until he comes down."

He contemplated sleeping at a small country inn, and was inclined to be fussy.

"Are you perfectly sure," he inquired, "that the sheets on the "Clean?" cried the landlady indignantly; "of course they are.

They've just come from the said the little one, "and buy a

"It really made me indignant, Rennetta," said Mr. Meekton,
"when you intimated that I had not accomplished much in this life."

"Indeed!"
"Yes, I don't like to dispute your opinions. But to suggest that a man who succeeded in becoming your husband hasn't achieved much seems just a little bit unjust."

HIT WITH CHOPPER.

CONSTABLE'S ALLEGATION AGAINST WOMAN.

HAWKER CHARGED.

Chinese police constable No. C441, stationed at No. 7 Police Station was on his beat in Second Street, West Point, at 5.45 p.m., yesterday, when passing house No. 33, his helmet was tipped off his head. Simultaneously a woman hit him on the head with the back of a chopper. The constable grabbed the woman and blew his whistle. A young man, whom the constable suspects was one of the woman's aons, immediately ran away and could not be found. Two other Chinese constables went to their comrade's assistance and took the woman into custody. The constable who was assaulted recognised the woman as a female hawker whom he had arrested for obstruction that same morning, and alleged that the attack on him was out of revenge. The woman was produced before Mr. R. E. Lindell this morning charged with assaulting the constable.

Mr. D. McCallum appeared for the defence and asked for a date to be fixed for the hearing of the case. Mr. Lindell, fixed noon on Friday next.

"THE CARLTON"

NEW HAIRDRESSING SALOON OPENED.

As may be seen from our advertising columns, a new hair-dressing saloon has been opened at 140 Queen's Road Central.

No money has been spared in fitting the "Carlton" out to make it rank amongst the best establishments of the kind in the Colony. There are three departments in the gentlemen's saloon, where no fewer than six barbers are at work, whilst two lady barbers look after the requirements of lady customers.

The "Carlton" which ought to have a bright future, has also secured the services of an expert manicurist.

U.S. PRESIDENT.

MORE COMMENT ON HIS WITHDRAWAL.

MANTLE FOR HOOVER?

Washington, Aug. 3.

After the first shock of President Coolidge's "withdrawal" from the presidential race, Washington is smiling.

Many officials have expressed the view that Senator Smoot was not indulging in idle gossip when he said: "If the Republican convention wants President Coolidge to run he will run; but if the matter is left to his personal choice he would prefer to withdraw."

Doctor Nicholas Murray Butler and Hiram Johnson of California are the outstanding exponents of the view that the president definitely eliminated himself by the announcement.

The friends of Ex-Governor Lowden of Illinois, however, are a unit in saying that the President is still in a receptive mood and intended merely to avoid the responsibility for taking a third term in the White House. Henceforth, they say, he has only to keep quiet and wait for the convention to act.

Under the circumstances, Secretary Hoover is a hard man to see. He will say nothing concerning the president's announcement and appears not to be concerned with the prevailing gossip which puts him in first place as a successor to Coolidge. The President's friendship for his Secretary of Commerce is one of the principal political facts in Washington and in the event that the President sponsors any candidacy but his own it is assumed here that the mantle will fall on Hoover.—United Press.

SILVA-NETTO SUED.

QUALITY OF ANTIMONY ORE IN DISPUTE.

LONDON FIRM PLAINTIFFS.

Messrs. Silva-Netto and Co., of Alexandra Building, Hong Kong, were the defendants in an action in the Summary Court this morning in which John Batt (London) and Co. sued for $852, being the equivalent of $95, 8s. 6d., alleged to be due by the defendants for breach of contract for the sale by the defendants to the plaintiffs of a quantity of antimony ore.

Mr. L. R. Andrews was for the plaintiffs and Mr. C. G. Alabaster, K.C., for the defendants.

Mr. Andrews said that the dispute arose out of the sale and purchase of 75 tons of antimony ore from the defendants to the plaintiffs. The contract under which it was sold contained a clause by which any dispute arising out of the contract should be referred to arbitration in London. A dispute arose between the parties having as its origin the re-selling of the goods by the plaintiffs to Messrs. Hallet and Son, of London.

Arbitrator's Award. The sub-purchasers of the plaintiffs rejected the antimony on the ground that it was not up to quality. Plaintiffs then got into touch with the defendants and told them there had been a dispute. After an interchange of cables, the defendants continued Mr. Andrews requested the plaintiffs to arbitrate between themselves, and Hallet and Son, their sub-purchasers.

This arbitration took place and Hallet and Son were awarded the verdict, plaintiffs having to pay $187 and costs. Plaintiffs in turn asked the present defendants to reimburse them as they (defendants) had (according to the view of the plaintiffs) asked for arbitration and impliedly therefore that they would be willing to abide by the decision. Defendants, however, seemed unwilling to pay the money. Correspondence continued over a long period in regard to the matter and eventually plaintiffs drew for the amount they considered due to them, on a bill of exchange. The two companies had been dealing with each other over a period of years and other debits and credits had accumulated.

Bill Dishonoured. This bill of exchange, continued Mr. Andrews, was dishonoured by the defendants. Plaintiffs then asked Johnson, Stokes and Master to act for them in the collection of the amount and eventually the present writ was issued. After its issue, Johnson, Stokes got into touch with the opposing solicitors and asked them if they were prepared to admit the correspondence passing between the parties. The defendants' solicitors instructed them that they were. Thinking that this would get to the real heart of the dispute without troubling to get evidence on commission, he (Mr. Andrews) relied therefore on the mutually agreed correspondence.

Mr. Justice P. Jacks commented that it did not seem a very satisfactory way of putting in evidence. No opportunity was given of cross-examination.

Mr. Andrews thought that if the defendants had wished to cross-examine they should have given him notice. He could have got evidence on commission and if an adjournment was granted he could do so now.

"Sky High." Mr. Alabaster commented that the defendants had evidence as to the nature of the goods shipped in Hong Kong which would knock the plaintiffs' case "sky-high."

His Honour still thought that the basing of the case on correspondence was unsatisfactory and would not get to the root of the trouble.

Mr. Andrews therefore asked that the case should be adjourned for getting evidence on commission but, Mr. Alabaster objecting, it was eventually decided to continue.

Mr. Andrews referred to various cables by which the contract had been formed.

A Trading Phrase. Referring to that by which the plaintiffs accepted the defendants' offer to supply 75 tons of antimony ore at $14.3 per ton of the "variety 55 to 60 per cent."

His Honour questioned the meaning of the latter phrase and Mr. Andrews said he was not aware of it fully himself. But he did not think it entered into the question. The defendants, he claimed, had agreed to accept arbitration, the award had been against the goods supplied, and the question of the quality of the goods was, he claimed, already disposed of.

His Honour expressed the view that what the defendants had asked for in the correspondence between the two parties was not arbitration between the plaintiffs and their sub-purchaser but arbitration between the plaintiffs and the defendants, which had not in fact taken place.

Mr. Andrews held that if this had been the real construction to be placed on the defendants' statement, it was not borne out in subsequent letters and cables. With regard to the contention of the defendants that the contract between plaintiffs and their sub-purchaser was different to that between the plaintiffs and defendants, how could they reconcile that with their understood acquiescence by correspondence that the contracts were the same, Mr. Andrews claimed that he ought to have been given notice if the defendants were going to dispute the letter about the contracts being the same.

Counsel for the defence said that the defendants had not at any time admitted the contracts were the same.

The case is proceeding.

INDIAN AFFRAY.

FIVE CHARGED WITH ASSAULT.

TO "SETTLE ACCOUNTS."

The Sikh assault case in which five men were charged with assaulting two compatriots with sticks, causing serious injuries to one man who was unconscious in hospital for three days after the assault, advanced a stage further in Major C. Willson's Court at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon. The assault was alleged to have taken place outside the Pioneer Silk Store on July 14 last.

Mr. C. A. S. Russ was for the defence.

The Indian watchman of the Colonial Dispensary said that he heard the first defendant say something to the complainants, and then all five set upon the two complainants. First defendant's words to the complainants were to the effect that they wanted to "settle accounts."

Not Many Friends. Questioning this witness regarding his friends, Mr. Russ caused some amusement when he mentioned seven different Channan Singh, four Mangal Singh and two Teja Singh. The witness said that he knew only one of the many men mentioned by Counsel. He said that he did not have many friends, and explained that by the fact that he was a night watchman and did not have much opportunity for social intercourse as he slept during the day.

A Chinese watchman also described the assault, but said he could not identify any of the defendants as all Indians looked alike to him.

Further hearing of the case was adjourned until Friday afternoon next.

DEAD JEMADAR.

INQUEST OPENS AT KOWLOON.

At the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, Mr. W. Schofield in his capacity as Coroner and a jury held an inquest on Jemadar Gurmukh Singh of the Indian Mule Corps, who was found dead under circumstances pointing to murder, with a bullet wound in his head, at Whitfield Barracks on June 25.

According to Captain E. W. Morris, R.A.S.C., who found the Jemadar dead in bed on June 25, there were two different castes of Indians in the Corps, Mohammedans and Hindus. The latter consisted of Doggas and Sikhs. The deceased, about three weeks previous to his death had some trouble with some newly arrived Doggas and the witness had to deal severely with one man for theft. The man had been warned through the senior N.C.O. that if they continued to defy the Jemadar's authority the witness would take serious action not only against the men but against the N.C.O. himself. Since then there had been no further trouble in the Corps.

The inquiry was adjourned.

CHARGE WITHDRAWN.

Before Mr. W. Schofield at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, the police withdrew a charge against a Chinese detective attached to the Yau-mat Police Station, who was alleged to have countenanced the demand by a Chinese of $500 from an employee of the Man Kee Godown in Jordan Road. The withdrawal was because the case depended on another in which a Chinese who was charged with demanding money by menaces was discharged by Major C. Willson at the Central Magistracy on Saturday. In view of Major Willson's decision no evidence could be offered against the detective who was represented by Mr. Leo d'Almada. Mr. Schofield discharged the accused.

OPEN TOO LATE.

The manager of a Chinese eating house at No. 447, Queen's Road West was this morning charged before Mr. R. E. Lindell with keeping his doors open for business at 1.10 a.m., yesterday, contrary to the provisions of his licence. He pleaded "guilty" and was fined $10.

The manager of another eating house at No. 472, Queen's Road West admitted a similar offence at the same time and date as in the previous case. As this man had had three previous convictions for like offence, he was fined $25.

CABINET TURMOIL OVER ARREST OF EDITORS.

Madrid, August 3. A dispatch from Lisbon describes an imminent Cabinet crisis caused by the Portuguese Minister of Interior's threat to resign.

The Minister clashed with the Government when the latter ordered the arrest of the editors of the official journal, "Imparcial." The latter changed its policy without warning several days ago, and launched a stinging attack on the Government.

The Minister of Interior supported the editors and refused to support the Government's action against them. The Government proceeded with the arrest of the editors.—United Press.

Bull-fighting, though illegal in France, has been spreading of recent years through certain southern regions, but has sustained its first severe check. LAWN BOWLS.

Championship For Kowloon Dock.

HELD ON TWO RINKS.

Taikoo's Bid In The Second Division.

[By "Short Head"]

At last the championship in the First Division of the Bowls League has been decided, and the Kowloon Dock Recreation Club are to be warmly congratulated on securing the honour for the first time in their history. An offshoot of the Bowling Green Club, the Kowloon Dock R.C. have shown that "Jack is as good as his master," but their confederates of the premier Club will be the last to begrudge them the honour this season. All that matters now to them is that the championship has come to Kowloon after a long interval.

In the game against the Civil Service Cricket Club on Saturday the Kowloon Dock had not matters all their own way; indeed, they lost on two rinks, and but for a big margin in the other rink they would have lost their first match of the season. Superb team work was seen in Lapsley's rink, the laurels going to the lead and the No. 2, who invariably almost left Lapsley (and at times even the No. 3) practically nothing to do. Lapsley's men gained 13 in the first four heads, secured a five at the 13th head and a similar score on the 14th head, at which time they led by 30-10. Denkin scored only five more and Lapsley nine, the latter thus winning by 40-15.

Brown was not so fortunate against Grimmit. At the fifth head the score against him was 6-2, at the tenth head 7-6, and the scores were 10-10 at the 15th head. Grimmit got two fours and Brown one, Grimmit leading at the 18th head by 18-11. Brown scored in the last three heads, but lost the match by 18-15.

In the tussle between Pendered and Gray the former led at the ninth head by 7-5, scored in the next seven heads, and led by 18-5. Had this rate of scoring been kept up the aggregate score would have been entirely different, but Gray's luck turned and he scored one in each of the last five heads, the final score on this rink being 18-10 in favour of Pendered. This, of course, was not sufficient to counteract the big margin against Deakin, and the Dock won by 4 shots.

The Dock's record for the season to date is as follows:

Beat Police	68-44
Beat K.B.C.C.	63-58
Beat C.C.C.	60-45
Beat K.C.C.	58-49
Beat C.S.C.C.	66-46
Beat Police	72-44
Beat Taikoo	66-54
Beat K.C.C.	58-49
Beat C.C.C.	67-53
Beat C.S.C.C.	65-51

Taikoo's Big Win.

It was forecasted in my notes on Friday, after seeing the team picked to represent the K.C.C., that the Taikoo R.C. would have an easy task on their own ground. Taikoo won on all three rinks with a good bit in hand, the totals at the end being 74-36. Wetherpoon was pitted against Overy. At the fifth head the scores were level—4-4 and then Overy led 10-8 at the 10th head. At the 15th head Wetherpoon was again leading: 16-12. Then Wetherpoon scored on seven out of the last eight heads, winning by 26-13.

Goodwin opened fairly well against Morrison and was only one down at the fifth head. Morrison snatched a five on the eighth head and monopolised the exchanges from the eighth to the 15th head inclusive for a total of 16. Goodwin scored five more, but could not keep Morrison from winning by 28-11.

Wallace was opposed to Tachi and the play was fairly even for three-quarters of the game. Wallace led at the fifth head by 7-5, at the 10th by 12-6, and at the 15th by 14-10. Tachi got a five on the fourth head, but had to be content with five ones and a two thereafter, the final score against him being 22-12.

At Kowloon the Police triumphed over the Bowling Green Club by the narrowest margin of one point. Two of their rinks were up, but West went down to Holland, thanks to a couple of fives snatched by the latter on the 5th and 16th heads. At the fifth head Holland led by 7-6, at the 10th by 12-7, and at the 15th by 16-10. In the remaining five heads Holland scored 10 including the five already mentioned, and West only got five, the score at the finish being 26-15.

In the bout between Russell's rink and Mair's the feature was the number of ones scored. Russell got one and at the second, third, fourth and fifth heads, whilst from the sixth to the eleventh head Mair scored 1, 1, 4, 1, 1, Russell led 4-1 at the fifth head, but Mair led at the 10th by 9-4 and at the 15th by 12-11. Russell, however, could score only three more, the final score against him being 21-14.

W. Macfarlane was opposed to West and lost his hitherto unbeaten record as skip, in spite of the fact that he led 6-1 at the fifth head and 11-7 on the 10th head. West snatched a six on the eleventh head and led by 17-12 at the 15th head. Each side scored five thereafter, West thus winning by 22-17.

If the Bowling Green Club were unlucky to lose by only one shot, the Police were unlucky not to win by more than that, seeing that they finished on the right side on two rinks.

East Point's Fine Win.

At Kowloon the anticipations of a close game between the K.C.C. and the East Point R.C. in the Second Division were fully realised. In winning by 59-43 they have added an entirely new complexion to the championship outlook. Only one of the K.C.C. rinks emerged on top, Wragge accounting for McKeller by 16-13. Wragge scored from the 12 to the 18th head, inclusive, and this made all the difference between victory and defeat on this rink.

Robinson went down to Lee by 23-14, the latter leading all the way. At the fifth head the score in his favour was 6-2, at the 10th head 13-5, and at the 15th head 19-11. He scored a five on the seventh head.

A good struggle was witnessed in the earlier part of game between Lammert and Lee. The latter led at the fifth head by 6-3. At the tenth head the scores were level: 10-10. At the 15th head Lee led by 13-12. Lammert scored only one more, Lee gaining the shots on the last four heads and winning by 23-13.

C.C.C. Beat C.S.C.C.

The Craigengower C.C. met and defeated the Civil Service C.C. by 63-40, winning on all three rinks. Rodriguez was up against Massey, and the opening exchanges were very even. Massey led at the fifth head by 4-2. Rodriguez was leading at the 10th head by 7-5, secured a five at the 13th head, and led at the 15th head by 14-8. He scored only five more against eight for Massey, the final score in favour of Rodriguez being 19-13.

Against Taylor Sellwood led all the way, the margin in his favour at the fifth head being 5-1, and at the 10th head 9-3. He scored from the ninth to the 14th head, inclusive, and led at the 15th head by 18-11. The final score in his favour was 24-10.

As in the case of the other rinks Knott left Alderman behind from the start. At the fifth head he was 6-5 to the good, at the tenth head 12-4, and at the 15th head 16-7. Ultimately Knott won by 20-10.

Win for Club de Recreio.

The Yacht Club made but an indifferent show against the Club de Recreio on their own ground, and lost by 71-40. They tied on one rink, but lost rather heavily on the other two. Edwards was opposed to Souza and a real ding-dong struggle was witnessed from beginning to end. Souza had the better of the exchanges up to the fifth head, when he led by 6-1, and also up to the 10th head when the score in his favour was 9-6. At the fifteenth head he led by only 12-11, and the scores were level at the 16th head: 12-12. Each side scored four thereafter, the final score being 16-16.

Davies was up against A. Ribeiro in the double sense, as he scored only on seven heads. Ribeiro got the shots on the eighth to the 13th head, inclusive, and ran out an easy winner by 26-8.

Shields was pitted against J. Ribeiro, the latter leading right from the start and eventually winning by 29-16.

There were no remarkable features in the game as a whole.

K.B.C.C. Lose to Taikoo.

Playing at the Kowloon Dock green instead of their own the Bowling Green Club lost to the Taikoo R.C. by 71-49, and thus impaired their championship prospects, whilst enhancing those of their opponents.

Warren's rink was the only one to make a stand, drawing with Dinnen's after a fairly close game. Dinnen led by 7-2 at LOCAL SPORT.

FRICTION OVER BALL GAME.

OTHER MATTERS.

There will be a few changes in the South China "Dragons" line-up in the coming baseball game this afternoon at five o'clock, when local Chinese talent will play the visiting All-Around Chinese Amateur Athletes of Honolulu. Mr. Richard Shim, manager of the South China A.A. baseball nine, has announced the following line-up for the game: A. Lum, p; S.S. Lee, c; T. Chinn, 1b; Shing, 2b; June, 3b; Choy, ss; D. Chinn, lf; Shim, cf; and K. Chinn rf.

Referring to the protest made by the Hong Kong Baseball Club through their manager, Mr. L. R. Ildefonso, against the South China Athletic Club taking the points by virtue of their score of 10 to 8 in the game with the Philippines. Mr. Richard Shim has not yet decided to make a reply until the meeting of the Pro-Test Committee. He simply wishes to say that he had every right to field Abe Liu as a "Dragon," whose appearance last Sunday at the "Dragons" Filipino game now forms the subject of discussion among local baseball players.

Federation Meeting.
The Hong Kong Chinese Amateur Athletic Federation will meet at general committee this evening at 7.30 in the club room of South China Athletic Association. Among the subjects in the agenda will be the completion of the Hong Kong contingent to the Far Eastern Olympiad to be held in Shanghai, August 27-September 3.

Practically all the leading sports organisations in Hong Kong among the Chinese are members of the Federation, which also works closely with the National Federation of China.

The following comprise the General Committee of the Hong Kong Chinese Amateur Athletic Federation:—President, Mr. Ng Sze-kwong, Chairman of the Chinese Recreation Club; Vice-President, Mr. Tsui Kin-yung, Chairman of South China Athletic Association; Hon. Secretary, Mr. Ko Sic-wai, Secretary of Chinese Y.M.C.A.; Hon. Treasurer, Mr. H. K. Lee, Manager of Chinese Athletic Association Football Section; Members of Committee, Mr. Leung Siu-mun, Chinese Bathing Club; Mr. Lee Yin, Chinese Athletic Association; Mr. Lau Fook-kie, Chinese Recreation Club; Mr. Richard Shim, headmaster, Ying Wa; and Mr. Hin Wong, Hon. General Secretary of South China Athletic Association.

Returning Footballers.

Among those returning from the Australian Tour to represent China in football under the auspices of the Hong Kong Federation, if they are finally selected, are Chan Kwong-yiu, Lai Yuk-tat, Wong Shui-wah, and Tsao Kwai-sang. They expect to arrive by the s.s. "Tango Maru." On the same boat will arrive Lum Pao-wah, or Stephen Gordon Lum, a noted tennis player, who was one time junior champion in Australia.

Swimming Records.

The latest swimming record obtained at the try-out yesterday at the Chinese Y.M.C.A. Pool under the auspices of the Hong Kong Chinese Amateur Athletic Federation follows:—50-yard Chan Chen-hing, 26 1/5 sec.; Tse Pao-chung, 25 sec.; four others within 27 sec.; 100-yard race, H. Pak-ping, 55 sec.; Wong Kam-fun, 56 3/5 sec.; 220-yard, Lo Chi-hing, 3 min. 17 3/7 sec.; Wen Kwong-ling, 3 min. 24 4/5 sec.; Yan Yuen-wah, 3 min. 24 5/5 sec.; and Wong Ping-fung, 3 min. 25 sec.

the fifth head, but Warren had the pull at the 10th head by 10-9 and the 15th head by 18-15. Dinnen, however, played well enough to force a draw: 21-21.

Hall's rink as a whole was out-classed by McKee's rink, the latter leading at the fifth head by 5-1, at the 10th by 12-5, and at the 15th by 16-10. On the 19th head McKee's rink snatched a five and ran out winner by 26-12.

MacLachlan was pitted against Matthews and scored on the first three heads. At the fifth head the scores were level: 5-5. From the fourth to the 15th head Matthews monopolised the scoring, leading at the 10th head by 14-5 and at the 15th by 16-10. He also secured two fours (on the 19th and 20th heads). The final score in his favour was 24-16.

Ships' Records.
Leaving out of account these players who have skipped only once or twice there are now no undefeated skips in either Division.

The best records to date are as follows:—

First Division: W. FASHIONS AND FANCIES

Now that the season for the vacation land is almost upon us, the feminine shopper needs much wisdom in selecting cool, comfortable and smartly appropriate costumes in which to reach her destination. Often the journey is a matter of days, weeks or merely hours. This alters, of course, the list of things needed. Nowadays the traveller injects a sports note into most of her travelling clothes and so achieves an extremely chic appearance.

To begin with, the coat that must always be chosen, for possible cool days or nights—especially on ship-board—should be as tailored as possible. With the mode for straight lines and unusual treatments in seamings, bindings and tuckings, there is a wide selection given in smart travelling coats.

In general, woollens are best selected. They may be quite warm for the ocean voyage and extremely light weight for the trip across country.

Travelling coats should be chosen with the greatest care, so that they may be worn with any of the frocks and hats in the necessarily limited wardrobe. In silhouette it should not vary from the typical sports model, but unlimited variety in material and details make its choice an easy one. Plaids and checks are extremely wise selections. They are chic and also do not show the wear and tear of travel. Tweeds also are especially suitable. Browns, bays, blues and greys are the wisest colours, as they blend with almost all shades and do not show stain as easily as lighter or brighter tones.

Ensembles are particularly fortunate selections for travelling, or the sports coat that is worn over the two-piece sport frock.

A more formal note may be seen in the ensemble of black and white. These include a very light weight woollen coat, black crepe frock, close fitting black hat, white flower on the coat, Oxford and hose of black with white washable gloves.

Dresses show a decided sports tendency. They may be either in one or two pieces but are extremely simple in cut and detail. The cardigan sweater often makes its appearance in making the ensemble very chic in three pieces. Materials which do not crush, are the best selected for travelling and the light weight woollens, foulard silks, crepes and voiles are most often seen. Accessories loom large on the travelling horizon. Inasmuch as the costumes themselves are often limited in colouring, the gay printed kerchief that is so important a part of the sports dress is often seen giving a note of colour. Leather belts are smart details, too, and also lend a note of variety.

EASTERN SHOPPING.

Where Time is a Mere Incident.

What a difference there is between the busy bustle of an English store and the easy-going methods of an Eastern bazaar! In England time means everything, while in Cairo it is incidental. Here, in Egypt, one sallies forth with the glint of battle in one's eyes, ready to fight strenuously for an article dear to one's eyes and heart. The Mousky is the favourite battleground. It is the great native bazaar in Cairo—possibly one of the world's wealthiest areas—though covered with grime and dirt. The "sinks," the carpets, strings of wonderful beads and jewellery of every description fill one with envy and desire.

Oh! For That Shawl. Suddenly a beautiful shawl, with all shades of gorgeous colouring, meets the eye, and to be the proud possessor of that shawl is, for the time being, the goal of one's ambition. The price? "Ah! Madame, it is cheap, very cheap indeed. It is only £3. Come inside, Madame, for we have others equally beautiful." So one is escorted into a veritable Aladdin's cave where one sees on all sides treasures untold. The shawl is brought down and the bargaining begins. Greek has met Greek and the battle continues for nearly an hour, with no appreciable gain to either side. When both are somewhat exhausted by their arguments the merchant, with the astuteness of the East, suggests refreshment, and either tea, coffee, or Turkish delight makes its appearance. It would be rude to refuse, so, with one eye on the shawl and the other on the coffee, the bargaining continues. Though the price of the shawl has been reduced, it is not low enough. For Madame, as she departs without buying it.

Beginning of the Contest. But this is not the end. Both realise it is but the beginning of the contest. Madame has thoroughly enjoyed the first round, and so has the dealer, but it yet remains to be seen which side wins. A sense of strategy is necessary for the second round, and a few days must elapse before the struggle is renewed. It would be unwise to appear too eager—though each knows perfectly well that it is but a question of time. So again the Mousky is visited, and the second bout begins, with the same old tactics on either side and another friendly cup of tea or coffee to add zest to the fray. Madame is this time more on the winning side, probably, and has gained a slight advantage. But it is not enough. Nothing will do but complete victory.

Gloves should be washable and smartly stitched. Shoes are of great importance. They should always be of the most comfortable last and always possess walking heels. The Oxford is both correct and chic. Stockings may be of either silk, hile or woollen.

Hats are invariably small for travelling. They should never be of a type that will not stay on the head comfortably.

Pocket books, also, are articles to pay wise attention to. They should have compartments that allow a liberal capacity and freedom in getting at them as they contain the essentials of travelling—money, tickets, passports, etc.

The screen star finds it necessary to travel quite a bit, consequently her wardrobe always includes suitable ensembles. Billie Dove, appearing in First National's "The Tender Hour," wears several costumes that lend themselves particularly well to smart travelling.

So the second bout ends, and still the shawl remains unbought. By now it has been further reduced, but Madame's limit is thirty shillings. Eve's Victorious. Further visits are still necessary, and each time Madame returns home quite satisfied that things are progressing favourably. If not very quickly. Unless another buyer appears on the scene she knows that sooner or later the shawl will be hers, and so she can afford to wait. At last the great struggle is ended, and the shawl is hers for just half the price originally mentioned.

As it is being packed, the seller still protests that she cannot have it at that figure. In a lukewarm fashion he still attempts to carry on the battle, but Madame smiles. "It is ruinous for me, Madame," he continues. "I shall have to shut my shop. I sell too cheap, much too cheap." Still he is as much delighted with his bargain as she is with hers. His regret is that the fray—has ended, for bargaining is joy untold to the soul of every Easterner. They are apparently great friends, and Madame is implored to visit his shop again, for she shall always have the best attention. Her zeal and enthusiasm have won his admiration, and now the glint of victory shines in two pairs of eyes.

Both had seen the end from the very beginning, and both knew from the start what the result would be.

DESIRE FOR PEACE.

BRITISH MERCHANTS' VIEWS ON CHINA.

Peking, July 23.
Looking back on the various small wars, revolutions, etc., that have taken place in China since the Revolution in 1911 one cannot help feeling that the country has never been so urgently in need of peace as it is at the moment. Although foreigners are suffering irreparable losses in trade such losses are insignificant compared to those of the Chinese. Probably in the history of China there has never been such poverty amongst the Chinese. The cost of living has trebled since 1911 and business may be said to be at a complete standstill in practically every commercial centre in China. Two significant results have shown themselves since this condition commenced, the most important of which has been the number of failures in Chinese financial and commercial circles, and, secondly, the amazing dislocation of railways and other communications.

The outcry against increased taxes may or may not be justified but certainly little notice would have been taken of them if the railways had been allowed to operate and trade continued. As it is, trade has been crippled and at the same time taxes have been imposed which cannot possibly be paid by the merchant or trader who is running his business at a loss even without such taxes. The man in the street cannot help wondering if those in authority really know the true position. Are the authorities told the truth? If they are, then, it is surprising that greater efforts towards peace are not being made. From what one can gather the meetings that are taking place at present in the Capital cannot possibly result in anything like peace proposals.

In the first place, Peking is the very last place where such negotiations should be carried on. The political atmosphere is so charged with pitfalls that it is doubtful whether a single one of the Delegates would feel inclined to make an honest expression of opinion on behalf of his Chief. The prevailing hot weather suggests a solution to this problem. Wei-hai-wei is one of the most delightful seaside resorts in China and would be an ideal place to conduct negotiations and presumably the British Government would raise no objections to such a course. If Tientsin, Mukden, Shanghai and Hankow were to send Delegates to Wei-hai-wei with full plenipotentiary powers it is conceivable that some workable arrangement might be arrived at. In the meantime, it should not be difficult to arrange an Armistice. In the matter of terms of an actual settlement if the "big men" would put aside their own personal ambitions, there should not be many difficulties to surmount. The large majority of the Southern leaders

FOILS FIVE MEN.

COURAGEOUS MATRON OF DORMITORY.

Jaro, Iloilo, Aug. 5.
The courage of Mrs. Roque Granada, matron of the girls' dormitory at the Central Philippine College, was responsible for felling five looters and preventing the dormitory from being burned here recently.

The 30 occupants of the dormitory were absent, attending the inauguration of the new president of the school and Mrs. Roque remained to guard the property. Soon after the girls' departure she heard noises under the building but thought nothing of them. Later she noticed one of the doors had been opened and started an investigation. As she entered the girls' dressing room, three men ran through the door and made their escape. Two others joined them outside the building and all ran.

When the girls returned it was found that three trunks had been looted and property was missing. A bottle of kerosene and a box of matches found near the trunks advanced the theory that the robbers intended burning the building when they had finished robbing it. As a result of the incident boys of the college offered their new concrete dormitory to the girls. The girls accepted and the boys moved into a nipa house which is being temporarily used as a dormitory until the girls' new dormitory is finished. Before the building can be completed, however, it will be necessary to raise P2,000. Instructors and students at the school are anxious that this amount be raised as soon as possible.—Manila Bulletin.

claim that they are in accord with the late Dr. Sun's "Three Principles" and that they are also out to expel communism and those connected with it. If this is really the case, the only important issue at stake is, who is to be the big boss in the new Government, and one cannot help feeling that therein lies the greatest difficulty.

Sacrifices must be made by all parties and probably the only solution in the matter of the future Peking Government is to enlist the services of capable officials who would enjoy the backing of those controlling the various provinces. One thing is certain, all the military are so hard up for cash to continue their campaign that the day is not far distant when a real financial crisis will arise and that may have the effect of creating a situation which all the principal militarists say they are trying to eliminate, that is, a Red China.—"Far Eastern Times."

EXILED.

FILIPINO LAWYER TO LEAVE HONOLULU.

Honolulu, Aug. 2.
Pablo Manlapit, the Filipino lawyer convicted of perjury and subornation, will be exiled from the Territory of Hawaii, leaving on August 18 aboard the steamship "City of Honolulu."

The prison authorities announced that all terms of Governor Farrington's parole had been complied with and that funds had been provided for Manlapit's passage by "unknown persons." He will be accompanied by his wife and children.

The Filipino has agreed never to return to Honolulu and acknowledges that he will be subject to arrest if he does so. The authorities have granted him two days under guard to arrange his private affairs before departure.

Several radical societies are planning to celebrate the event of his release but Manlapit will not be allowed to take part. It is generally known that a certain organization of industrial citizens is largely responsible for raising the passage money.—United States.

STRANGLED.

FATE OF BOLSHEVIST TERRORIST.

Paris, July 4.
A message from Riga states that the Soviet official Godlevsky has been found strangled in the public gardens at Kharkov. The affair is at present a mystery.

Godlevsky was one of the youngest members of the Bolshevik group who began to exercise terroristic power in 1918, and was said to be one of the organizers of the "torture section" of the Cheka, for the activities of which Chinese torturers were employed. He was responsible for the arrest of many middle-class people and for their being herded like animals in the prisons of Moscow. He was also very active in the "expropriation" of private wealth.

For some time Godlevsky was a commissar with army detachments as chief spy against officers whose services were retained by the Bolsheviks. In this capacity he was responsible for the death of many people whom he accused of counter-revolution. It was only on June 25 that he

According to the conditions of the Dole Prize, applications should have been filed or in the mails by midnight of last night.

The full list of entries, to date are: Captain James L. Griffin of Long Beach; Frank Clark of Los Angeles; Lieutenant George Covell of San Diego; Edmund Moffett of Santa Monica; Major Livingston Irving of Berkeley; John Peddler of Flint Michigan; F. A. Giles of Detroit; Charles Parkhurst of Lomax Illinois; Lieutenant N. A. JAPANESE FLIERS.

Non-Stop to Seattle Proposed.

Victoria, Canada, Aug. 2.
The Aero Club of Victoria received a message from Tokyo saying that the Imperial Aviation Association of Japan is constructing a special aeroplane for non-stop flight to Seattle.

The Japanese association plans to train special fliers for 6 months. The flight will be formally entered for the special prize of $25,000 contributed by Seattle businessmen and held in escrow. The names of the fliers have not been announced nor has any information regarding the type of plane to be used, been given out publicly.—United Press.

FRENCH BORDER.

REPORT OF ITALIAN GUN PRACTICE.

Paris, July 4.
The Franco-Italian frontier region of Mont Cenis has been the scene of alleged incidents which are occupying the attention of the French Foreign Office.

According to reports received from the Mayor of Lanslebourg (Savoie), French farmers and their families living on Mont Cenis have been driven from their homes, while Italian mountain batteries have been firing live shells over their fields and pasture lands. Lanslebourg is one of the French mountain communities which by the Franco-Italian Treaty of 1861 is in a peculiar position. Nearly all the French farmers own the pasture lands and summer fields on the plateau of Mont Cenis and on the Italian side of the frontier. A special clause in the treaty recognises their right and renders them immune from Italian law.

On June 27, according to the mayor's official report, an Italian officer, escorted by several soldiers, appeared at the mountain chalets on the plateau and ordered all the inhabitants—women and children for the most part, as the men were at work in the fields—to leave. They had to take their cattle and pigs with them and seek refuge in a blinding rainstorm behind some rocks on the French side of the frontier.

Artillery practice went on until 2 p.m., when the inhabitants were allowed to return.

Similar scenes have taken place on successive days, and it is reported that Italian heavy artillery is also to practise.

The inhabitants of the French villages are reported to be much incensed at the attitude of the Italians and to be hoping for prompt action by the French Government to prevent regrettable incidents.

RUSSIAN GOLD.

SIGNIFICANT BELGIAN DISCLOSURES.

A remarkable disclosure of the activities of the Russian trade unions is just now agitating Belgian Labour. A letter has been published showing the Russian trade unions to have secretly subscribed nearly $4,500 towards the building of the Maison des Tramwaymen in Brussels, a building of trade union offices with a public hall and cafe.

The letter is written by Dr. Martens and M. Frans Liebaers to Mr. Meunier, of the "office for foreign relations" of the Russian trade unions. It encloses two receipts, one for the first instalment of $7,435 and $53 sterling, the second for $7,000, and asks for the third instalment (of about $7,625) towards the total subscription of 800,000 francs to be sent as soon as possible.

In order to avoid trouble (says the letter), considering how Belgian legislation stands at present, it would be wise until Russia has regular diplomatic relations with Belgium, which seems unlikely to be long now, to nominate three or more comrades from the Belgian trade union movement to represent the Russian trade union organisation. It would be necessary for the time being to put the allotment of shares in their names.

The main structure is virtually finished, but in order to enable us to complete it we should be glad if you would arrange for the third instalment... to be sent as soon as possible. The general view of the building is very effective—numbers of offices for trade union organisations, a magnificent hall for meetings and celebrations, with 1,500 seats, a large cafe, etc. We shall send you photographs as soon as possible.

The "Tried Militants."

The letter goes on to deal with domestic matters and quarrels between the various brands of Communists.

All work for unity (it declares) needs for its development a clean, healthy atmosphere, with tried militants for its leadership. We felt that with Comrade Verucrye on the executive it was impossible to fulfil these conditions. On grounds of morality, for failure to keep his engagements, and for no other motives, as he may perhaps have falsely declared to you, we have called upon him to resign from the executive of the cooperative. The result of these vagaries of conduct has been the creation within this trade union movement of two clans, which are rendering one another. In the tumultuous general meetings the tactlessness of Verucrye provokes particularly unfortunate incidents, which jeopardise the future of the trade union, within which a strong minority is forming for demanding his withdrawal from the organisation.

This purification would have been secured already if Jacquemotte had not been continually manoeuvring in the lobbies, where he accomplished a dirty piece of work which may compromise the very existence of the trade union.

We want to work for trade union unity. We do not want to emphasise the political discords which are splitting the proletariat here.

This letter was sent, not by the Maison des Tramwaymen, but on behalf of the group calling itself "Unity" working for "unity" between the Communists and non-Communists, but, as the latter allege, merely pursuing a policy of internal disruption. The officials of the Maison des Tramwaymen itself announce that they only applied to the Russians when the bank of the Belgian Labour party had refused a loan, and deny that they are Communist. On this the "People" which publishes the correspondence, declares that all the same the hall is where the Communists meet regularly, and where the offices of the Communist organisations and semi-Communist unions are. Moscow does not act from pure philanthropy, and the "People" concludes that the letter shows that "the Russian Communists, under cover of their false generosity, have established in our country a ramification of their vast system of cell-building, which aims, in their hope, at accomplishing the destruction of the so-called 'reformist' organisations."

As to M. Verucrye, about whom the writers of the letters are so bitter, he has written to the papers declaring that all it contains is "just scandalous blackmail," denying that the tramwaymen have asked for his withdrawal, or that any of the general meetings have been tumultuous.

The story is not, without its British moral, and the minority

LEPROSY.

"DEFINITELY ESTABLISHED AS INFECTIOUS"

Researches by Dr. H. Windsor Wade, chief pathologist of the Cullion leper colony, and Dr. J. N. Rodriguez, recently acting chief physician there, have definitely established that leprosy is infectious, and have exploded the theory once generally held that the disease was hereditary.

Children born of leprosy parents but not infected in infancy, if removed from the leprosy environment, are free of the disease, it is now definitely learned.

Results of the Cullion researches are embodied in a pamphlet just issued by Drs. Wade and Rodriguez, which contains many important contributions to medical science.

"It is now recognised," say the authors, "that the maintenance of leprosy in a family is not due to heredity, or even to congenital infection, but to infection after birth favoured by the close association of family life."

"It should be borne in mind that: First, the disease is not highly contagious, particularly in healthy people who lead hygienic lives, and even in more primitive peoples among whom it has long existed. Second, what is usually though incorrectly called the incubation period is very variable and usually long. Apparently authentic instances of 10 to 20 years and longer are on record. Perhaps it is three or five years on an average, with, however, wide variation. A person may easily forget contact with a leper or other exposure happening several years before. On the other hand, he may have been entirely ignorant of such contact or exposure."

"Children and young people are comparatively prone to acquire the disease, particularly those between 10 and 20 years. Among adults, males are for some unknown reason generally more prone to infection than females; in the Philippines, as in many other places, the proportion is two to one."

The Philippine health service will soon inaugurate a new system in the anti-leprosy campaign, according to Dr. Jacobo Fajardo, director of health. Until recently, he says, compulsory segregation of bacteriologically positive cases was the only available anti-leprosy measure. Now, special emphasis can be laid on treatment and, with education of the people concerning its value, on the attraction of patients while yet favourable for treatment.

The new system, when developed, according to him, will be threefold: First, early cases, detected when only "clinically positive," will be offered regular treatment locally, without segregation. When the treatment is efficiently given, and regularly taken, it may be expected at least to prevent further development of the disease, and usually to effect cure.

Second, cases that are bacteriologically positive will first be treated in regional stations. Here the patients may be visited freely by their friends. So far as permitted by the capacity of those institutions, patients who respond favourably to treatment will remain there until they become negative and can be sent home.

Third, cases that prove not satisfactorily responsive to treatment will be removed to the Cullion leper colony. It is important, Dr. Fajardo states, that such patients should not accumulate in the stations, for they tend to discourage others. Further, Cullion is more suitable for them, for it is comfortable, attractive town in a large reservation, and the conditions of life are much freer and more normal than in the restricted area of a treatment station.

Dr. Fajardo states "this system will offer to persons afflicted with leprosy important inducements for early recognition. Non-segregation and probability of cure in the case of those not yet bacteriologically positive, and regional segregation and a fair chance of cure for the earlier positive cases, should induce those in the earlier stages of the disease to report voluntarily. When this attitude becomes general the eradication of leprosy from the Philippines will, unquestionably, be greatly accelerated."—Manila Bulletin.

EXTORTION.

MARTEL LODGES SECOND PROTEST.

According to the "Huang Pao," Comte de Martel, the French Minister in Peking, has lodged a second protest with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs against the reported extortion of money from the missionaries by the Szechwan army. Besides calling immediate attention of the Chinese Government to the affair, the French diplomat asks that prompt measures be taken to prevent further activities on the part of the Szechwan soldiery.

The first protestation of the French Minister is said to have been made to the Foreign Office a few days ago, in which he stated the action of the Szechwanese constitutes a flagrant violation of the Sino-Foreign treaty and should be checked at once.

Movement in Britain is probably sustained in much the same manner.

BRIGHT HOPES.

FROM THE RUSSIAN VIEWPOINT.

The following is a translation of an editorial, entitled "Bright Hopes," in "Shanghai Zarya": "The injurious policy of the U.S.S.R. in China has been almost completely suppressed by the efforts of the interested Powers and the co-operation of moderate Chinese groups."

"The Hankow Government centre, created by the agents of Moscow, as a result of the disintegration of the Kuomintang, found itself a stranger to the masses, and is now feverishly struggling for the re-establishment of its national prestige."

"The only place where the device of the Soviet Unions can still be applied is the district under the military control of Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang, but even there signs of the weakening of the communistic orthodox are showing, rendering it of less value to Moscow."

The Moscow International, however, evidently does not wish to cede its position entirely in the Far East, and is urgently looking for new ways and means.

A PUZZLE.

IS HE THE FATHER OR SON?

The Paris police are trying to solve an identification puzzle, the central figure in which is a reputed centenarian.

Jean Baptiste Tourenne, a retired railwayman who for more than 40 years has drawn a pension from the State Railway, has, according to his own account, entered upon his 100th year. He says he saw the first railway to be built in France and worked on the line.

He is still in the best of health, and though his moustache is white, his hair is only slightly grey and he looks no older than 60. He was preparing to celebrate his centenary when the manager of the railway company received an anonymous letter stating that Jean Baptiste Tourenne was not a centenarian but was the 60-years-old son of Jean Tourenne. The son was supposed to have died in 1900. Father and son, said the writer, had the same name, and since 1900, the son has been impersonating the

"The 'Kommintern' recognises mistakes committed by its agents in China in neglecting revolutionary armies for the sake of attaining agrarian revolution, which circumstance has led to the gradual loss of influence by Moscow and the strengthening of national centres."

"The new phase of Moscow policy in China will consist in a period of cessation of activities, during which time fresh groups of Chinese communists will be trained in Moscow, whilst the attention of the Powers will be diverted by means of the economic boycott carried out under the pretext of nationalist movement."

"Leaders of the Far Eastern policy of the Kommintern consider that two years of cessation of activities in China will be sufficient for them to re-establish their lost position."

"To these bright hopes it is necessary to add the following remark:—They can be realised if, on the one side, the Soviet Union in the meantime does not undergo serious changes, and on the other, if Chinese Nationalism does not succeed in expelling the remnants of communistic influence."

The railway company charged Jean Baptiste Tourenne with fraud: When arrested he protested that he was the centenarian. "Open my family grave," he said, "and you will find there the remains of my wife and my son."

"You look very young for a centenarian," said the police commissary. "I am a bit groggy on my pins," was the reply in effect.

Jean Baptiste is being detained in custody, while the grave is to be opened and the remains are to be submitted to a medical examination.

FRENCH IN SIAM.

CELEBRATION OF JULY FOURTEENTH.

On the evening of July 14 at the Hotel Royal, "les Camarades francais de la grande guerre resident au Siam" gave a farewell dinner to their President d'honneur, Monsieur Wilden, on the occasion of his approaching departure. Practically all the members of the "French Legion" were present with the exception of the ecclesiastics, and some 22 sat down. The dining hall of the hotel was, prettily decorated under the direction of M. Daubourg, the new manager, who is also a former service man. The dinner was excellent and very cheerful, says the "Bangkok Times."

After dinner, the President, M. Baudart, in a few words, touched with emotion, reminded them of the too short stay of M. Wilden in Siam, where by his directness, his kindness and his spirit of devotion he has won all hearts. Mr. Baudart went on to express the high honour which is felt by the association of the French comrades at being able to count Corporal Wilden among their active members. Few Ministers of France can, like him, claim the designation of "temple poilu," and his departure will be an irreparable loss for the association. But in our expression of regret we must associate also the name of Mme. Wilden. She has been in Bangkok the perfect type of the "femme française." Indeed Mme. Wilden will leave in Bangkok a memory as lasting as that of her husband.

The President then asked those present to raise their glasses in honour of M. and Mme. Wilden; and this was done with enthusiasm. M. Wilden's reply was marked by wit and humour, but one could feel the emotion under the pleasant words. After returning thanks, he recounted how, though by nature the most pacific of men, he had been, from the age of twenty, involved in waging war. Attached as interpreter to a railway company in China, he had taken part in several expeditions and in the Boxer war. [M. Wilden did not say, but all the world knows, that at the age of 21 he was decorated with the Cross of the Legion of Honour for feats in that war.] Thereafter M. Wilden gave some account of his later campaigns up to the great war. He said that it is with great regret that he is leaving Siam; he leaves only for reasons of health. In conclusion he gave the toast of France, the little France of Bangkok and of the best in it, the ex-service men.

BEYOND THE GRAVE.

WHY A STUDENT COMMITTED SUICIDE.

New York
The chaotic philosophy which is unsettling the minds of medical students in the United States has resulted in a new tragedy—the third of its kind since Christmas—when Casals W. Noe, aged 20, while his parents were at church, shot himself with his father's revolver "to learn what is beyond the grave."

Like his chum, Joseph Moore, a fellow-student of medicine, and Rigby Wile, who killed themselves on New Year's Day, after writing letters giving "convincing but faulty reasons for their suicide," Noe was obsessed with psychological problems.

With a group of students he entered into a weird pact, having for its purpose inter-communication between the living and the dead. To his father, a well-to-do dentist, before firing the fatal shot, he addressed, a note asking him to tell Norton, another student, "to watch for a message."

MINT AT WORK.

MILLIONS OF COINS TURNED OUT AT HANGCHOW.

Shanghai, Aug. 1.

According to a Hangchow message dated July 28, received in Shanghai to-day, the Nanking Government in May last appointed Mr. Chin Pal-shun, head of the Bank of China at Hangchow, and Mr. Shen Wei-chen, head of the Bank of Communications there, as Chief and Vice-Chief, respectively, of the Mint at Hangchow, which had been suspending operations since last autumn.

The Mint, at the request of various banks in Shanghai and elsewhere, recommenced operations in May last to turn out coins. It has since been producing 160,000 to 300,000 dollars' worth of coinage a day, and the coins so far turned out amount to $80,000,000, of which $10,000,000 is in the coinage of the old type with the portrait of Yuan Shih-kai, and $8,000,000 in the new coinage with a portrait of Dr. Sun Yat-sen. According to the same message, 15,000,000 dollars' worth of coins have already been sent to Shanghai, and the Mint is now turning out new coins to the amount of $240,000 a day.

MEDICAL CONGRESS.

MANILA OFFICERS FOR INDIA.

Washington, August 2.
The war department to-day directed Major General Fred W. Sladen, commander of the Philippine Department, to assign one or two army medical officers from his command as delegates to the Seventh Congress of the Far Eastern Association of Tropical Medicine, to be held at Calcutta, India. The Congress will open on August 12 and close on September 5.—Associated Press.

THE PRICE OF PEACE.

Mr. J. R. Clynes, M.P., addressing a meeting at Buxton said: "At the end of the committee stage of the Trades Union Bill the amazing offer was made to us to act with the Government in some endeavour to improve machinery for conciliation and industrial peace. They can get peace and co-operation without this Bill, but not with it. If this Bill is set aside, Ministers might with some effect invite responsible leaders to come together to ensure the margin of overseas trade of which we are in need, and to create greater contentment and confidence in the pursuit of our interests."

"We could," he added, "trade with Russia and be friends with her people without approving any of the revolting acts of violence committed by Russian leaders. It may be that these acts only continue the conditions which were common in Russia under the rule of tyrants and Czars. But no working-class clause can be advanced by acts of barbarity or vengeance, which organised labour must hold in abhorrence."

DESIRE FOR PEACE.

BRITISH MERCHANTS' VIEWS ON CHINA.

Peking, July 23.
Looking back on the various small wars, revolutions, etc., that have taken place in China since the Revolution in 1911 one cannot help feeling that the country has never been so urgently in need of peace as it is at the moment. Although foreigners are suffering irreparable losses in trade such losses are insignificant compared to those of the Chinese. Probably in the history of China there has never been such poverty amongst the Chinese. The cost of living has trebled since 1911 and business may be said to be at a complete standstill in practically every commercial centre in China. Two significant results have shown themselves since this condition commenced, the most important of which has been the number of failures in Chinese financial and commercial circles, and, secondly, the amazing dislocation of railways and other communications.

The outcry against increased taxes may or may not be justified but certainly little notice would have been taken of them if the railways had been allowed to operate and trade continued. As it is, trade has been crippled and at the same time taxes have been imposed which cannot possibly be paid by the merchant or trader who is running his business at a loss even without such taxes. The man in the street cannot help wondering if those in authority really know the true position. Are the authorities told the truth? If they are, then it is surprising that greater efforts towards peace are not being made. From what one can gather the meetings that are taking place at present in the Capital cannot possibly result in anything like peace proposals. In the first place, Peking is the very last place where such negotiations should be carried on. The political atmosphere is so charged with pitfalls that it is doubtful whether a single one of the delegates would feel inclined to make an honest expression of opinion on behalf of his Chief. The prevailing hot weather suggests a solution to this problem. Wei-hai-wei is one of the most delightful seaside resorts in China and would be an ideal place to conduct negotiations and presumably the British Government would raise no objections to such a course. If Taiyuanfu, Mukden, Shanghai and Hankow were to send Delegates to Wei-hai-wei with full plenipotentiary powers it is conceivable that some workable arrangement might be arrived at. In the meantime, it should not be difficult to arrange an Armistice. In the matter of terms of an actual settlement if the "big men" would put aside their own personal ambitions, there should not be many difficulties to surmount. The large majority of the Southern leaders

FOILS FIVE MEN.

COURAGEOUS MATRON OF DORMITORY.

Jaro, Iloilo, Aug. 5.
The courage of Mrs. Roque Granada, matron of the girls' dormitory at the Central Philippine College, was responsible for foiling five looters and preventing the dormitory from being burned here recently.

The 30 occupants of the dormitory were absent, attending the inauguration of the new president of the school and Mrs. Roque remained to guard the property. Soon after the girls' departure she heard noises under the building but though nothing of them. Later she noticed one of the doors had been opened and started an investigation. As she entered the girls' dressing room, three men ran through the door and made their escape. Two others joined them outside the building and all ran.

When the girls returned it was found that three trunks had been opened and property was missing. A bottle of kerosene and a box of matches found near the trunks advanced the theory that the robbers intended burning the building when they had finished robbing it.

As a result of the incident boys of the college offered their new concrete dormitory to the girls. The girls accepted and the boys moved into a nipa house which is being temporarily used as a dormitory until the girls new dormitory is finished. Before the building can be completed, however, it will be necessary to raise P2,000. Instructors and students at the school are anxious that this amount be raised as soon as possible.—Manila Bulletin.

claim that they are in accord with the late Dr. Sun's "Three Principles" and that they are also out to expel communism and those connected with it. If this is really the case, the only important issue at stake is, who is to be the big boss in the new Government, and one cannot help feeling that therein lies the greatest difficulty.

Sacrifices must be made by all parties and probably the only solution in the matter of the future Peking Government is to enlist the services of capable officials who would enjoy the backing of those controlling the various provinces. One thing is certain, all the military are so hard up for cash to continue their campaign that the day is not far distant when a real financial crisis will arise and that may have the effect of creating a situation which all the principal militarists say they are trying to eliminate, that is, a Red China.—"Far Eastern Times."

EXILED.

FILIPINO LAWYER TO LEAVE HONOLULU.

Honolulu, Aug. 2.
Pablo Manlapit, the Filipino lawyer convicted of perjury and subornation, will be exiled from the Territory of Hawaii, leaving on August 18 aboard the steamship "City of Honolulu."

The prison authorities announced that all terms of Governor Farrington's parole had been complied with and that funds had been provided for Manlapit's passage by "unknown persons." He will be accompanied by his wife and children.

The Filipino has agreed never to return to Honolulu and acknowledges that he will be subject to arrest if he does so. The authorities have granted him two days under guard to arrange his private affairs before departure.

Several radical societies are planning to celebrate the event of his release but Manlapit will not be allowed to take part. It is generally known that a certain organization of influential citizens is largely responsible for raising the passage money.—United States.

STRANGLED.

FATE OF BOLSHEVIST TERRORIST.

Paris, July 4.
A message from Riga states that the Soviet official Godlevsky has been found strangled in the public gardens at Kharkov. The affair is at present a mystery.

Godlevsky was one of the youngest members of the Bolshevik group who began to exercise terroristic power in 1918, and was said to be one of the organizers of the "torture section" of the Cheka, for the activities of which Chinese torturers were employed. He was responsible for the arrest of many middle-class people and for their being herded like animals in the prisons of Moscow. He was also very active in the "expropriation" of private wealth.

For some time Godlevsky was a commissar with army detachments as chief spy against officers whose services were retained by the Bolsheviks. In this capacity he was responsible for the death of many people whom he accused of counter-revolution. It was only on June 25 that he

San Francisco and the bay cities are rapidly approaching a state of feverish excitement as further entries for the Dole Prize are announced and the day of the big flying race to Honolulu draws near.

Twelve pilots and their aeroplanes are now in the list and all expect to hop off simultaneously on August 12 for Honolulu. Captain J. L. According to the conditions of the Dole Prize, applications should have been filed or in the mails by midnight of last night.

The full list of entries to date are: Captain James L. Griffin of Long Beach; Frank Clark of Los Angeles; Lieutenant George Covell of San Diego; Edmund Moffett of San Francisco; Arthur Goebell of Santa Monica; Major Livingston Irving of Berkeley; John Peddler of Flint Michigan; F. JAPANESE FLIERS.

Non-Stop to Seattle Proposed.

Victoria, Canada, Aug. 2.

The Aero Club of Victoria received a message from Tokyo saying that the Imperial Aviation Association of Japan is constructing a special aeroplane for non-stop flight to Seattle.

The Japanese association plans to train special fliers for 6 months. The flight will be formally entered for the special prize of $25,000 contributed by Seattle businessmen and held in escrow. The names of the fliers have not been announced nor has any information regarding the type of plane to be used, been given out publicly.—United Press.

FRENCH BORDER.

REPORT OF ITALIAN GUN PRACTICE.

Paris, July 4.
The Franco-Italian frontier region of Mont Cenis has been the scene of alleged incidents which are occupying the attention of the French Foreign Office.

According to reports received from the Mayor of Lanslebourg (Savoie), French farmers and their families living on Mont Cenis have been driven from their homes, while Italian mountain batteries have been firing live shells over their fields and pasture lands. Lanslebourg is one of the French mountain communities which by the Franco-Italian Treaty of 1861 is in a peculiar position. Nearly all the French farmers own the pasture lands and summer fields on the plateau of Mont Cenis and on the Italian side of the frontier. A special clause in the treaty recognises their right and renders them immune from Italian law.

On June 27, according to the mayor's official report, an Italian officer, escorted by several soldiers, appeared at the mountain chalets on the plateau and ordered all the inhabitants—women and children for the most part, as the men were at work in the fields—to leave. They had to take their cattle and pigs with them and seek refuge in a blind rainstorm behind some rocks on the French side of the frontier. Artillery practice went on until 2 p.m., when the inhabitants were allowed to return.

Similar scenes have taken place on successive days, and it is reported that Italian heavy artillery is also to practice.

The inhabitants of the French villages are reported to be much incensed at the attitude of the Italians and to be hoping for prompt action by the French Government to prevent regrettable incidents.

Antiquities.

A number of antiquities, says a Moscow message, are being exhibited in the Mongolian Museum at Ulan-Bator. They were discovered in March by Simukoff, a collaborator of the Mongolian "learned cabinet," on the scene of the researches carried out by Kozloff's expedition. Among the exhibits are stone trinkets, a gift model of a Scythian horse and a small Chinese lacquer cup bearing an inscription establishing the date to be in the early years of the European era.

Rev. Dr. van der Merwe, M.L.A., speaking at Stellenbosch, expressed the view that South Africa's status as laid down by the Imperial Conference was a result of evolution and was not an end but a stage in a development which would gradually lead to complete independence. But that was a matter for the future, and to-day they were prepared to accept the position as it now was.

After discussion, the Sub-Committee agreed to recommend that the trophies should be disposed of immediately.

Serb-Slovene Debts to Britain.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT.

War Debt Of $25,500,000 To Be Funded.

Rugby, Yesterday.
An agreement for the settlement of the Serb-Croat-Slovene war debt to Great Britain was signed this morning by the Chancellor of the Exchequer. The Serb-Croat-Slovene war debt, which amounts to approximately $25,500,000, will be funded and repaid by 62 annuities of the following amounts:—In 1927, $1,500,000; in 1928, $2,500,000; in 1930 to 1935 inclusive, $3,000,000 a year; in 1936 to 1939 inclusive, $3,500,000 a year; in 1940 and 1941, $4,000,000 a year; in 1942 to 1948 inclusive, $6,000,000.

An agreement has also been reached for the settlement of the Serb-Croat-Slovene relief debt to Great Britain. The amount of this debt has been agreed at $2,068,843 and it will be repaid in full with interest at five per cent. over a period of 15 years. The total payment amounts to between $100,000 and $150,000 per annum during the years 1927 to 1931, and thereafter will be approximately $240,000 per annum for the years 1932 to 1941. Annuities in respect of the war debt have been sealed down during the years up to 1942 in order to take account of the Serb-Croat-Slovene liability for the relief debt.—British Wireless Service.

GENEVA ECHO.

GEN. DAWES' LIMITATION SPEECH.

New York, Yesterday.
General Dawes' allusions to Geneva in his Peace Bridge speech have caused a stir in the State Department, which has vigorously dissented against General Dawes' view that inadequate preliminary preparations accounted for the Geneva breakdown. It is pointed out that the United States delegates discussed the situation with the British representatives at the League's Preparatory Disarmament Conference earlier in the year. This view is echoed by the Administration and the newspapers.

The "New York Times" says an explanation of the speech may be found in a pamphlet recently circulated by a friend of General Dawes for the furtherance of a movement to make him a candidate for the Presidency. According to the pamphlet General Dawes' method is "Smash with the Javelin of sincerity the smoke screens employed to conceal, confuse and pervert American fundamentals."—Reuter's American Service.

JAPANESE BISHOP.

POPE MAKES FIRST APPOINTMENT.

Rome, Yesterday.
The Pope has appointed Gennaro Hayasaka, of Hakodate as Bishop of Nagasaki. He is the first Japanese to be made a bishop. Hayasaka will come to Rome to be consecrated by the Pope at St. Peter's in great pomp and solemnity at the end of October.—Reuter.

PASSENGER EXCESS.

OWNERS OF "ALEXANDER KIELAND" FINED.

The master, chief officer and chief engineer of the s.s. "Alexander Kieland," as joint-owners, were charged at the Marine Court this morning with carrying more than 12 passengers on their vessel. All pleaded guilty and were fined $100 each.

The master of a trading junk was fined $10 in the Marine Court this morning for being within Harbour limits without regulation lights. He pleaded guilty.

U.S. COTTON CRISIS.

Bear Traders Rush Up Prices.

HUGE BUYING ORDERS.

Lull in Rise But Very Strong Undertone.

New York, Yesterday.
Cotton futures, which advanced $10 a bale yesterday, jumped $5 more to-day in a scramble by cotton trade bear traders. Buying orders estimated at 100,000 bales, which accumulated yesterday during a period of inactivity in which the market was unable to rise, sent prices up with a bound at the opening to-day, and the twenty cent line was crossed in the first hour of trading, after which the upward movement slowed, but the undertone remained very strong and reaction from the top was moderate.—Reuter.

"Full Speed Ahead."
Rapid City, To-day.
President Coolidge's approval of the programme which it is intimated the President considers moderate and adequate for the nation's defence has been followed by a conference with Mr. Wilbur, Secretary of the Navy. It is believed that "full speed ahead" has been ordered as regards the construction of eight additional cruisers sanctioned by Congress, the keels of two of which are already laid, and it has been decided that the whole eight will be launched within the next three years, if ready.

Mr. Wilbur in a statement said there would be no change in plan owing to the lack of agreement at Geneva.—Reuter's American Service.

SIR GEORGE LEWIS.

WELL KNOWN SOLICITOR DIES.

London, Yesterday.
Sir George Lewis was killed by falling in front of a train near Montreux.
Sir George Lewis, who has been staying at a sanatorium in the Territet, and overbalanced and fell on to the railway at the moment the Express was passing.—Reuter.
[Sir George James Garham Lewis was the head of the well-known London firm of Lewis and Lewis, solicitors. Born on September 12, 1888, he was educated at Harrow and later at Balliol College, Oxford, and was admitted a solicitor in 1894.]

Famous People's Secrets.
Rugby, Yesterday.
Sir George Lewis who met his death tragically on the railway at Territet, in Switzerland, was one of the most notable figures in the London legal world. He was head of the firm of solicitors Lewis and Lewis, which was built up by his father, Sir George Lewis. Like his father, he was employed in many causes celebre, and was guardian of secrets told to him by many famous people. He maintained, however, the tradition successfully developed by his father of being the confidential adviser to clients in trouble and difficulty rather than a technical legal expert. His best achievements were probably in cases which never reached court and of which no one but those concerned ever heard anything.—British Wireless Service.

CORNHILL COLLAPSE.

OTHER PROPERTY IN DANGER.

London, Yesterday.
A magistrate at the Mansion House has granted orders for securing the safety of the property adjoining the Commercial Union Buildings in Cornhill. It was stated that some of the property was in a very dangerous position and liable to collapse.—Reuter.

RAIN, THEN FINE.

"South-west or variable winds, moderate to light; overcast with rain at first, finer later," is the official weather forecast until noon to-morrow.
Pressure is relatively high in the extreme East and the extreme South.
The typhoon is now central over North Korea, moving north-north-east.

THE AIR POST.

International Conference At The Hague.

RUSSIAN EXTENSIONS.

U.S. To Advocate Ship To Shore Aerial Service.

Washington, Yesterday.
Mr. Irving Glover, second assistant postmaster general and Mr. White, superintendent of foreign mails, will represent the United States at the International Conference at The Hague on September 1. The conference has been convened as a universal postal union by the request of Russia, which has been extending her airmail services. The new American postmaster general in a statement said that the United States would advocate, inter alia, a shore to ship and a ship to shore airmail service on the lines of the recent experiment by Chamberlain until aircraft was able to make regular trans-ocean trips.—Reuter.

BAD MORTAR.

CHINESE CONTRACTOR FINED.

Hin Woo, contractors, were this morning summoned before Mr. R. E. Lindsell by the Building Authority for using defective mortar in the construction of a building in West Point.
A Building Authority representative said that two briquets of the mortar were drawn and the strain was only 4 lbs., whereas the proper strain should have been 20 lbs.

Mr. W. D. Owen appeared for the defence and pleaded "guilty," but asked for leniency. He said that the defendants had been in the building business for seven years and had never been in this sort of trouble before. In this instance the mortar was not properly mixed on account of the laziness of a workman who wished to avoid the trouble of going some distance for water. The man has since been dismissed by his clients.

The Magistrate said that he could not take a lenient view of the matter as it constituted a danger to the public. The building, he said, might collapse and cause great disaster. Defendants were fined $100.
On the application of the B.A. representative, his Worship made an order for the pulling down within 21 days of a wall which had been built with the defective mortar.

BLASTING DANGERS.

ROCKS FALL ON HOUSE VERANDAH.

CONTRACTOR FINED.

Sang Lee, the contractors who are undertaking the Praya East reclamation work, were this morning summoned before Major C. Willson by Sergeant McTernan for failing to supply adequate covering while blasting rocks on Morrison Hill on July 30 last. Fragments of rocks fell on the verandah of Revenue Officer Grimmit's house.
A fork of the company said that the foreman was ill on that day, but as far as he could gather the substitute had taken the usual precaution of weighing the rocks down with boards. He said that fragments flew into Mr. Grimmit's house because of the proximity of the rock to the house.
According to Sergeant McTernan, if the rock had been properly weighted down fragments would have shot upwards and not sideways as in this case.
The defendant then pleaded "guilty," and the Magistrate imposed a fine of $50.

Mrs. Costen's many friends in the Colony will regret to learn that she has received information from her home in America that her mother is about to undergo a serious operation. All, including the Servicemen stationed here, will join in trusting that Mrs. Costen's future news of her mother's condition will be of a favourable nature.
